KBoard integrates AGILIENCE's "Expertise locator"

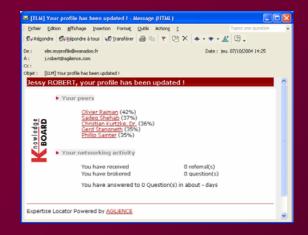

This service identifies the likely members that can reply to your questions. Ask your question to question@knowledgeboard.agilience.com

- 1. You will receive an email in return with a list of members to contact
- 2. The invited persons receive the question by email.
- 3. They can reply directly or transfer your question towards their personal network, acting then as "knowledge brokers".

This service is learning from all of those exchanges. All new action, release a new loop of improvement and make the solution even more relevant.

This service distinguishes itself by his simplicity of use and allows the KBoard to facilitate the relation and the interactions between its members.
